Per accreditation policy on assessing prior learning, in making determination whether to award college credits, certificates, and degrees to students for prior learning, the following should be considered:

- Credit or its equivalent should be awarded for learning, and not for experience
- Assessment should be based on standards and criteria for the level of acceptable learning that are published
- Assessment should be treated as an integral part of learning, not separate from it, and should be based on an understanding of learning processes
- The determination of credit awards and competence levels must be made by appropriate subject matter and academic or credentialing experts
- Credit or other credentialing should be appropriate to the context in which it is awarded and accepted
- All faculty involved in the assessment of learning should pursue and receive adequate training and continuing professional development for the functions they perform
- Prior learning assessment should be regularly monitored, reviewed, evaluated, and revised as needed for currency
